

III EDITION OF THE INTERNATIONAL TAX WEEK

In memory of Prof. Frans Vanistendael (1942-2021)

THE G20 TAX REVOLUTION: IS IT THE END OF CORPORATE CONTORTIONS?

In theory, globe-trotting companies pay taxes where they have their headquarters, in practice, they reported profit in countries other than where they conduct business. To what extent the last G20 agreement on new international tax principles is a global success over local hypocrisies?
